

"Wishing Wheels" Magneto-PSIonic Transmitter

---

Eight spoked Indian medicine wheel over a natural vortex

Here is a simple experiment in programmed intent. It demonstrates the functional interaction of creative symbolism (the diagram) and an actual tuned energy field. The latter also acts to sustain the projected influence indefinitely, eg. without the undivided attention of an operator

Radionic instruments were developed in the 1930's for mechanized dowsing and distant healing. Certain versions incorporated a cylindrical magnet attached to a knob. It was rotated prior to each session to nodally intermesh with the planetary information field, which was believed to be magnetic in nature. This principle will also be included,

Construction

Find the South (positive) poles of two 50-55mm diameter, ceramic ring magnets by holding each, edge-wise, directly over a compass and aligning with the needle. Purchase a "30M" steel washer and sandwich it between the two S poles of the magnets, as shown below, to simulate a radial "monopole". Place the magnet assembly at the center of a piece of thick white posterboard or other stiff backing. This provides the correct polarity to sweep the tuners clockwise in a 1-8 sequence.

If for some reason you use different diameter magnets the key to merging like polarities, which ordinarily repel, is that the intervening washer protrude slightly over their edges, and be fairly thick to channel outwardly the concentrated lines of flux.

From the hardware store, obtain eight 1/2" zinc-plated steel nuts. Place one against the side of the magnet and slide outward until there is no chance of it being pulled back. Slide it another 10mm and mark the center.

Refer to the tuning scale at the end of this article. Copy, paste into MS Word and print eight copies exact size. Do not use Windows

"print wizard". Using a straight edge, carefully cut each out. Glue in a star pattern, like eight spokes on a wheel, around the magnet (45 degrees apart), with the number "10" of each being the same distance out from the magnet as the above mark.

Tuning

Again using a compass, rotate the entire backing until any one scale points toward the Earth's magnetic North. This is "tuner 1". Place nuts, one each per scale, at the outermost position, so "0" is visible through all the center holes.

Next, slowly rotate the magnet while holding a (non-ferrous) pendulum above. Stop when a "positive" dowsing response is observed. You may feel a corresponding energy shift in the room as the octagonal field symmetry of the magnet "locks" with the nuts.

That is the basic setup. Now we will tune it. Suspend a pendulum over the magnet. Form in your mind a relaxed steady image of your intent ... as the desired result, NOT the problem. While maintaining this, slide the nut on "tuner 1", one number at a time, toward the magnet until a positive response occurs.

Repeat for remaining tuners in a CW sequence. If there is no positive response over any given scale, return its nut to "0". Note that the number of tuners required in each instance will vary from 2 to 8. When you get no dowsing response on two in a row, that indicates the end of the tuning sequence; all subsequent tuners being left at "0".

Wishing wheel set at "4-9",
the classic rate for general vitality

The device is now in active transmitting mode. Leave
"as is" in an undisturbed place, and wait for the result to appear. You can also record, for future use,
the numerical tuning ("rate") used to achieve it.

Many elaborations are possible. For example, a photo of an entity or place can be situated under the magnets as targeting for action-at-a-distance.
Weatherproof versions, with fixed nuts, may be distributed throughout the garden to repel insects, compensate soil deficiencies, or provide an energetic template to imprint plants with special properties.

Please note that all responsibility is yours. Regarding possible misuse, one point should be noted. From the wider perspective, that we are seeking to access, the concept of self-interest is false currency. If it wasn't, there would be a lot of dowzers winning lotteries and horse races. To efficiently utilize the universe's back channels, operations must conform to the "higher" dynamics that unify all life.

Octagonal Byzantine church. 8 = perfection, immortality, totality, and the atomic number for oxygen

Assorted Links

Action at a Distance in

Quantum Mechanics Nature's Mind: the
Quantum Hologram
George and Marjorie De La
Warr
Radionic Association -
Online Articles

0

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

Return to Main Menu

© Copyright 2011 by P.
Nielsen. All rights reserved.